CAPT. LEROY RALEY

Captain LeRoy Raley, Chaplain, United States Army, now in Italy, has been awarded the Silver Star, second highest army decoration, it was disclosed here today by Mrs. Raley the former Miss Alice Fanning.

From the citation awarding the Silver Star the following is published:

Capt. Raley, Headquarters Second Battalion Infantry Regiment, for gallantry in action on 26 of May 1944, near Carano, Italy. When his battalion suffered numerous casualties during an attack on strongly fortified positions, Chaplain Raley personally led litter squads through heavy enemy fire to evacuate the wounded. Artillery and mortar shells continued to fall in the area but Chaplain Raley remained in spite of the enemy fire to give aid to the wounded and last rites to the dying. GERMAN RETREAT IS FORCED BY PATTON

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army troops were fighting forward Tuesday night within eight miles of the important enemy arsenal city of Saarbrücken after having plunged across the German frontier at a new point and extended their invasion front inside the Reich to 26 miles.

The German radio said Nazi forces were in full-scale retreat before both the U. S. Third and Seventh armies, making for "newly prepared positions."

As the last German cities were being cleared from the Vosges mountains and the Alsatian plain, official Allied sources denied reports that French troops had crossed the Rhine north of Strasbourg or that Yank parachute troops had been landed in Southern Germany.

On the northern end of the front the U. S. First and Ninth armies continued their unspectacular but steady gouging-out of German defenses at the edge of the muddy Cologne plain.

The Ninth army completed capture of Kirchberg, on the west bank of the Roer less than a mile from Jülich, as well as Barmen to the northwest and Alldorf to the south of Jülich. The Yanks were fighting through knee-deep water from the flooded Roer.

Raymond Ashley Has Fine Record in Navy; Is Aviation Machinist

Raymond Ashley, Aviation Machinist, will soon complete his 9th year in the United States Navy and currently is serving overseas. His home is at Milano in their home while her husband is overseas in the naval service.

Mrs. Ashley, the former Miss Blanche Juneau of Alexandria, La., lives at Milano in their home while her husband is overseas in the naval service.

Before enlisting the second time Ashley served 4 years in the navy and on February 15, 1945, will have completed 9 years service.

Recently Ashley sent his wife two clippings from The Yank, a tabloid size newspaper published in London for the armed services of the United States. Because of their reflection of the view point of the service man they are reproduced below; the first from Pvt. Felix Wenzel:

"A friend of mine received a letter from his girl and she stated that she was going to a dance that was being held to build up the morale of some German prisoners of war from a nearby camp. Over here I am trying to make it as tough as I can for the enemy by doing my small part. I see my best friends getting crippled and killed, getting prisoners to go back to the States to sleep in beds, eat A rations, drink beer, and to top everything have morale dances with our women. Boy, what I wouldn't give to have the girls here so I could show them the type of dances the helmsie is giving us."

This clipping from the Stars and Stripes and signed by Pfc. Wm. F. Daniels and 16 G I's:

"We the boys from Hut 37, have been wondering why it is so hard to buy anything over here. It seems no matter what store or PX you go to in the States they always tell you "Sorry, we don't have that, it's being sent to the boys overseas. Now that we are over here we still can't get the things we want. We would like to know where this stuff is going. Will someone please answer this question?"

O'Daniel is Charged With Part in Ills At the Unversity

Austin—Former Attorney General Robert Lee Bobbitt told a state investigating committee today that "a scheme to limit and restrict the program of some of our institutions of higher learning" was concocted at a meeting in Houston in 1940 "under the general jurisdiction and sponsorship of the then-governor W. Lee O'Daniel."

Bobbitt's testimony followed that of former University of Texas Regent J. R. Parton of Houston that "we in Texas are in the grip of a political force that is being exerted to curio academic freedom."

"Apparently the scheme was to limit and restrict the teaching of certain subjects and get rid of certain professors and administrators in these institutions that had programs which ran counter to, or did not co-incide with the economic ideas of certain monopolists, corporation executives, and rich industrialists," Bobbitt said.

Harbor

Remember the gaping holds of ships sunk without warning at Pearl Harbor? Remember, too, the men killed during the infamous sneak attack? This is the fight that Japan started . . . the fight that we're out to finish!

Don't fool yourself—the Japs are tough. It will take long, bitter, costly fighting to blast them out. It will take new and specialized equipment. B-29 Superfortresses . . . amphibious tanks . . . airplane carriers . . . P-47 Thunderbolts and new secret weapons. And a veritable Niagara of oil and gasoline!

Your War Bonds helped train and feed and equip the American armies that smashed through at St. Lo . . . Nancy . . . Sedan. Yes . . . your War Bonds are helping to win the Battle of Europe. But now how about the Battle of Japan?

The Job is Big—So Dig!

It costs billions of dollars a month to fight the Battle of Japan. The money must come from every patriotic American. It's an investment in America—your future.

WORKING FOR VICTORY today

PLANNING A DREAM HOUSE FOR Tomorrow

While working for Victory today, patriotic women all over America are dreaming of and planning for their homes of tomorrow. The well-planned home of the future should have adequate wiring—meaning wiring installed in accordance with high standards, adequate protection for all electrical circuits, enough circuits to distribute the load properly, and an abundance of outlets for quick and convenient "plugging in" of electrical appliances wherever needed...making possible full use of the new quick-freeze units, refrigerators, washing machines, and many other appliances that will reduce the time and effort needed for household duties.

Assurance of the brighter tomorrow in which you can enjoy the better living which Peace will bring means buying War Bonds today and making every other contribution possible toward Victory.

"SERVANT'S ENTRANCE"... Plenty of electrical outlets bring you full enjoyment of your electric service...whether you build a new home or remodel your present one, plan now to have adequate wiring!

RING TIGHTENS ABOUT AXIS ON ALL FRONTS

The grim struggle to beat the Axis powers Saturday mounted in terms of tightening the ring both in Europe and in the Pacific.

At noon General George Patton's Third American army had established a 12 mile front across the Saar river in Germany. This was the most spectacular thrust of the day.

On other fronts the Allies were slowly advancing bringing up reinforcements and supplies and the pressure on Germany was gradually breaking the Western Front.

Significant advances were being made in the Philippines and in Italy the 8th and 5th Armies were advancing.

Winter has come to the European front and progress will be slower as the weeks come and go.

Is Your Home Life Like This?

Everything moves along its accustomed routine, easily, smoothly, gracefully. Few complaints ever arise. Anniversaries are regularly and lovingly remembered. Each meal is an occasion for compliment. Well, it could be that the coffee has a mighty lot to do with it. Sounds far-fetched? Not if you'd believe a current issue of a famous national magazine. It says good coffee is one of the tremendous trifles that's vital. What's more, it just about proves it too!

Maybe it's the Coffee

A rich, inviting blend like Admiration certainly can add much to family harmony. Its fragrant flavor is a delight at any hour of the day, lends something to all occasions, and helps make commonplace meals appetizing and interesting. It could well be therefore that Admiration Coffee plays a silent but important role in family affairs, unnoticed and unsung.

Or is it Like This?

Too often bad coffee unhinges otherwise good dispositions. Usually it's right at the breakfast table too. One word leads to another—and then the family explosion occurs. The rest of the day is spent in multiplying imagined wrongs. Better look over your situation. Perhaps Admiration, one of the Great Aids to a Happy Married Life, is just what your family needs.

Beautiful Valley Immortalized in Rogers' Musical

Republic studios did its best to immortalize the district in which it is located by filming the new musical starring Roy Rogers, "San Fernando Valley," which comes to the Milam Theatre Friday and Saturday.

Not only is Republic studio lot in the Valley, but that is also the home of the picture's star, Rogers.

Despite the title, the screen-play is about a town by the name of Pendelford, a modern Western city surrounded by large ranches, and the fabulous valley is only mentioned in the song from which the film is named.

A Chamber of Commerce portrait of the valley, is however presented in the picture's finale, where against a background of live, bearing orange trees, with the Mission and the mountains is visible, dozens of lovely country girls in abbreviated Western costumes, dance and sing.

Dale Evans, diminutive Jean Porter, Bob Nolan and the Sons of the Pioneers are featured in the huge cast.

Seed Loans For County Farmers Now Available

Emergency Crop Loan, generally known as the "seed loans," are now available to farmers of this county who need assistance in financing the production of 1945 crops, according to announcement of W. E. Farwell, Manager of the Dallas Emergency Crop Loan Office of the Farm Credit Administration.

An early installment of the loan may be advanced at this time for the purchase of feed or fuel oil for preparing the land, as well as fertilizer, seed and supplies, which may be needed now, and the remainder of the funds will be disbursed as needed, Mr. Farwell stated. The Loan Manager also called attention to the fact that the War Food Administration is urging farmers, who use fertilizer, to purchase it early and store it on the farm to relieve congestion in warehouses.

Applications for the loans in this County are being taken at the Chamber of Commerce, Cameron, under the direction of Eric E. Brown, Field Supervisor.

These loans have been made here for many years and have proven of great benefit to farmers whose cash requirements are small. Security for the loans is a first mortgage on the crops to be financed. As in the past, borrowers will be required to plant a large garden for home use and a balanced farm program of food, feed and cash crops is encouraged. Applicants who can secure loans from banks or other sources are not eligible for the "seed loans." The maximum loan to an individual is $400.

In addition to general crop production loans this agency also makes loans to purchase seed or to produce feed for livestock.

Judge Jeff T. Kemp left Cameron early Tuesday for Galveston where he will attend the annual convention of Texas' county judges and commissioners. Judge Kemp expressed hope that Milam county may share in the 30 million dollars of federal money which is being allotted for a post war program in highway building in Texas and especially rural roads.

More Rural Phones Post War Plans Of Telephone Co.

A joint committee of representatives of Bell and independent operating telephone companies throughout the United States has been formed to advance the nation wide post war programs which the various telephone companies have been working on individually to extend and improve farm telephone service, it was announced by E. C. Crittenden, Jr.

As soon as war demands are reduced, we propose to resume and expand our research effort and, along with it, the intensive program for extending farm service which was being carried on before the outbreak of hostilities.

"Over one half million miles of telephone pole lines serving rural areas have already been built so that more than two thirds of all rural families in the United States can be served from existing lines. Since 1935 more than 500,000 additional families in rural areas have become telephone subscribers—an increase of 35 per cent. One of the major objectives is to continue this upward trend by making the service over existing lines increasingly valuable and attractive. This the industry intends to do to the limit of its ability.

"A second major objective is to extend service at reasonable cost to families not now reached by existing lines.

"The industry research in the last several years has successfully developed new construction materials and methods which substantially lower the cost of building wire lines to areas not previously reached. In addition, work was started by the industry in 1938 to develop a practical system of transmitting telephone conversations over electric power lines. A similar system can be used over telephone lines to increase their capacity. This so-called rural carrier system transmits a very high frequency current over the wires. From 1940 on, experiments with this system for telephone service over rural power lines were carried forward in a co-operative effort of Bell Telephone Laboratories and the Rural Electrification Administration. Before this work was interrupted by the war, it was clear that a suitable system of this kind could be produced.

"One practical effort of these de-

The telephone companies plan, in co-operation with REA co-operatives and with power companies serving rural territory, to determine the full extent to which rural carrier telephone service can be used economically and effectively.

Homemade Sausage Can Be Tasty and Profitable

One excellent means of saving every ounce of meat during butchering is to use all the trimmings and waste parts in making sausage.

If the individual does not care to make his own casings, they may be purchased at meat markets, or muslin may be utilized. In addition to the muslin and stuffing material, a meat grinder is all that will be required.

There are said to be some 1,800 different kinds of sausages, all combinations of various meats in different proportions as well as combinations of seasoning.

For fresh pork sausage about one-third fat and two-thirds lean will be about the right proportion. A cereal such as soybean meal may be added if desired. To prevent uneven distribution of seasoning, the meat should be spread out after being coarse ground. After the seasoning is well mixed, the meat should be reground through the fine plate. If the sausage is to be frozen, the seasoning should not be added until thawed out.

If put in casings, it should be stuffed immediately after grinding as it should be soft enough to stuff tightly into the casings, without adding water. The muslin casings should be moistened before using and the salted casings should be soaked in clear warm water. The muslin casings should be dipped in paraffin or melted lard. If the sausage is to be smoked, the paraffin should be done after the sausage has been chilled and smoked.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardul is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

- 1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion,* thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.
- 2 Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

*Try Cardul. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

"For Joe and Pete and Jack"

We took the beach-head at dawn.

Our destroyers stood out to sea and threw in the shells and our planes pounded hell out of their pill boxes, and then we came in . . .

But, the wind and the tide tricked us.

The landing boats grounded off shore and we jumped over the sides and stood in the warm, shallow water and stared at the far-away beach and then at each other . . . and our eyes and our mouths were wide with fear as we waded in . . .

And we fell under their guns like wheat to the blade of the reaper. And though they said we could never take it . . . at dawn on the third day we took it.

I'm not fighting for myself alone . . .

I'm fighting for the buddies who fell beside me . . . for Joe and Pete and Jack and Harry. For the flag they loved, and their kids back home, and the faith they held in their right to be free . . . for the future and the life that they gave up . . . for the things that make America the one country in all the world where a man can be somebody . . . where a man can go somewhere.

I know why I'm still out here.

I know what's got to be done.

And I'm not coming back until I'm through with my knife and my gun . . . until I know that terrorism and the lust to kill and enslave are forever dead . . . until all men and women and children can live without fear . . . as free individuals in a land, and a world, where there will always be liberty, equality and freedom of opportunity.

That's what they fought and died for.

Your Country is still at war--are You?

Grew Fast

One of the largest cities in the world for her age, 90-year-old Seattle, Wash., has a population of 617,000. The city was founded by Arthur A. Denny and a small group of settlers from Illinois, who landed on Alki Point in 1851. With little ceremony, the city was named "Seattle," after the friendly Siwash Indian Chief, but gradually became "Seattle" because of its easier pronunciation.

Young Ducks Fly North Before Migrating South

Many young ducks fly north in the fall before starting their southward migration! That is the conclusion reached by Tom Main, general manager of Ducks Unlimited, Canada, as a result of wildfowl banding and trapping operations conducted in North America's great duck breeding areas of western Canada, and reports of young ducks encountered in the fall far north of the breeding grounds.

Juvenile ducks banded in southern Alberta in June have been recovered in September from traps at points up to 600 miles to the north, Main declares. Other young ducks have been shot by Indians and trappers during the fall a thousand miles north of where they were hatched.

This pre-migration northward shift is credited to a hunt for food. It is pointed out that while the ducklings prefer to remain in the alkali lakes of the prairie areas during the late spring and early summer, when these waters swarm with minute aquatic animal life, the more northerly lakes attract them from midsummer on with an abundance of food suitable for them to feed on before making the southward flight to the United States.

Ventriloquism (from Latin: ventor, belly and loqui, speak) was formerly supposed to result from a peculiar use of the stomach during the process of inhalation. The words are formed in the normal manner but the breath is allowed to escape very slowly with tones being muffled by narrowing the glottis and the mouth opening while the tongue is retracted and only the tip moves. Gestures and facial expression are employed at the same time to assist in the deception by stimulating the imagination of the listeners and to distract their attention from the speaker. Ventriloquism is of ancient origin. Traces of the art are found in Egyptian and Hebrew archeology. The ancient Greeks were believed to have been masters of ventriloquism, an explanation for recorded voices coming from statues of the Egyptians and of the Greek oracle.

Premature Celebration

Encyclopedia Britannica points out that Republican newspapers conceded the election of Democratic candidate Samuel J. Tilden in 1876. Both parties believed Tilden to have a popular plurality of 250,000 based on his election in certain northern states as well as what was believed to be the "solid South." In the final count, however, Gov. Rutherford B. Hayes of Ohio was elected by one electoral vote involving upsets in certain southern states. Since these states were in the midst of the transition from Negro to White government, and elections were notorious for fraudulent practices, a serious question was raised regarding the returns and also regarding the authority of the federal government to question state returns.

Tie Vote

Jefferson and Burr received the same number of electoral votes in the presidential election of 1800, and the house of representatives was called on to decide which should be President. The house, being controlled by Jefferson's party known as the Federalists, decided in favor of Jefferson, making Aaron Burr vice president. This dispute resulted in the 12th Constitutional Amendment which provides that electors vote separately for President and vice president. Before the 12th Amendment, which was adopted in 1804, a candidate receiving the largest number of votes was elected President while the office of vice president went to the candidate receiving the next highest number.

Mystic Symbol

The swastika, mystic symbol of good fortune, goes back to prehistoric times and has been found by archeologists in all corners of the earth. It was used by North American Indians thousands of years before the advent of Columbus. The Nazis appropriated it as a symbol of "their national unity." Since it has been identified with Nazi aggression, several organizations throughout the world have discarded it, including the Indian chiefs in an Arizona gathering who committed to flames all their possessions that bore the swastika. The Indians, interestingly, hold that the Nazi swastika is turned the wrong way—which means bad luck.

Jap Music

Marines have been surprised to find that a large proportion of the recordings found on captured Tinian, although titled in Japanese, give forth with the best swing by Benny Goodman, as well as many Occidental classics, such as Bach, Beethoven, Liszt and others.

The Marines, however, cannot reciprocate Japanese appreciation of our music. The eerie, lilting strains of the "samisen" and the "shakuhachi" simply fail to soothe. The only exception, perhaps, is "Arne no Buruss" (Rainy Day Blues), which is done in the manner of modern American swing and was extremely popular in Tokyo during 1941.

80 GERMAN PLANES SHOT DOWN TUESDAY

A record breaking air blast of Germany highlighted the war Tuesday as thousands of planes were over the Reich destroying railroad lines, trains and depots as well as industrial objectives.

The city of Berlin was attacked by 5550 bombers escorted by 800 fighter planes. The attack was carried out in daylight and since the British bomb largely at night the major number of the attacking planes are presumed to be American. German planes rose to defend the city and 80 of them were shot down.

General Eaker in command of the U. S. Air forces in the European theatre hinted that the Allies may have a new device which will permit blind precision bombing.

Floor Stains

Those black marks made on waxed floors by wartime heels and soles can be removed with wax, turpentine or cleaning fluid such as carbon tetrachloride, according to Miss Dorothy J. Iwig, home furnishings specialist, University of Illinois college of agriculture.

Rub the mark with a cloth moistened with carbon tetrachloride or with turpentine. The grease solvent will remove the wax along with the black, so wax should be applied to the floor after removal.

Islanders in the Caroline

Islanders in the Caroline area have fared on fish, taro, papaya, breadfruit, mango and the introduced orange. No quadrupeds are native to the Micronesian islands. Water buffalo, cattle, horses, mules, pigs, goats, cats and dogs have been introduced, but are not all found on every inhabited island. Copra, pearl and turtle shell have been the islanders' staple in trade.

Sea Water Palatable

The navy has invented a practical method to be used on rafts and lifeboats for producing drinkable water from the salt ocean. The chemicals are compressed to the size of a bar of soap and bags with capacity of one gallon are provided.

Police Find StolenCar in Repair Shop

TOLEDO, OHIO.—Police sought one of their cruisers for 15 hours the other day in the belief that it had been stolen. The car turned up in the city garage, where it was undergoing repairs.

The officers to whom the cruiser was assigned said the car was taken from a parking lot without their knowledge.

French Girls Nab Nazis in FranceArmed With Luger Pistol, They Get Results.

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN BRITANNY. — French mademoiselles armed with enemy Luger pistols and carrying potato masher grenades in their belts have joined resistance leaders in Brittany's greatest outdoor sport—the capture of Germans.

Some of the women lug rifles on their shoulders and speed down secondary roads seeking isolated pockets of Germans.

"I met two of these French gals packing Luger pistols," said Lieut. Leonard Hughes of Fond du Lac, Wis., supply officer. "We have been trying to get our hands on some of those Lugers ever since we landed—and here were these gals packing a pair of 'em. We tried to trade them cigarettes for their pistols but they wouldn't do it. They wanted to keep them to kill Germans."

"Those women are amazing. They fix up old trucks and go out Boche hunting the way our girls back home set out for the movies. They get out in front and lead our supply trucks for hours, checking roads ahead to see if they are clear."

By patrolling roads over which American armor has passed but which infantry has not mopped up, fighting French men and women are reducing attacks on small American supply truck convoys. To keep our tanks supplied, our supply boys have had to fight their way up to the front.

"These isolated groups of Germans get close to roads and shoot up the trucks," said Lieutenant Hughes. "I have had eight of my drivers hit by snipers. They usually let most of the convoy go by, then open up with machine guns and rifles on the last few vehicles."

Russian Officer SavesD y for Shimmy Dancer

WASHINGTON.—The quick thinking of an unnamed Russian general prevented an unfortunate misunderstanding between American soldiers and some Russian entertainers. He also saved one Russian dancer some badly hurt feelings.

Maj. Gen. John R. Deane, chief of the American military mission in Moscow, described the incident while disclosing that shuttlebomber bases in Soviet territory have been placed on the regular schedule of all groups of Russian entertainers touring the front for the Red army.

"At one of these entertainments," said Deane, "they had a shimmy dancer. She wiggled pretty well—our boys started whistling, shouting and stamping their feet."

"Unfortunately, whistling and stamping your feet are in Russia signs of violent disapproval."

"But a Russian general sensed the situation immediately. He jumped on the stage and made a little speech explaining the Russian idea to the Americans and vice versa."

"It made everything all right—the dancer came out again and wiggled even longer and harder."

Paris Bluebeard Was NotMyth, Report of Police

PARIS, FRANCE. — The "mad butcher of Rue Lesueur" apparently was no Nazi propaganda myth. Police showed uneasiness when asked about Dr. Marcel Petiot, who, according to Nazi newscasts, murdered and burned scores of persons—most of them women—during the occupation. There had been some suspicion that the whole thing was a Nazi invention.

"A myth?" a police official asked. "How we wish he were. He is only too real. We already have identified 54 victims and heaven only knows how many more there are."

Petiot, who still is listed in the Paris telephone directory, escaped and led police a chase through France. He is rumored to be somewhere with the German army.

Yank Smothers GrenadeWith Japanese Officer

WITH THE UNITED STATES AMERICAN DIVISION, SOUTH-WEST PACIFIC. — Pvt. Anthony Veltre of Webster, Pa., was in a foxhole with a buddy who had just been killed by a bullet in the head.

The soldier, peeping out of the hole to spot the enemy rifleman, saw a Japanese officer, brandishing a sword, bearing down on him. Veltre lunged out, got a hold on the sword hilt and wrestled the officer in the foxhole.

Veltre was strangling the Japanese when a grenade landed beside him. He flung the officer on top of the grenade and held him there until it exploded. The officer was killed instantly. The private uninjured.

Consolidated Steel Caravan Coming to Cameron December 8

Sponsored by the War Manpower Commission, the Consolidated Steel Corporation Recruiting Caravan will appear on court house lawn, 12:30 p. m. during the afternoon of Dec. 8, with a combination musical and educational program. Toby Kelly and his famous Consolidated Steel Guitar Swingsters will provide music and laughs. The tour, under the auspices of the United States Employment Service, is for the purpose of recruiting employees of all kinds for the vastly expanded shipbuilding activities recently announced by the Orange firm.

During the evening, beginning at 7:30 p. m. the caravan will stop at the High School Gym where a series of moving pictures, several of which have never before been released to the public on the progress of the war, will be shown. Under the direction of Ted Belile and Lynn Jones of Consolidated Steel, the program entitled "The World Is Still at War" will show the need for more and more ships and more and more shipbuilders to replace those claimed by the armed forces from the yards in Orange. Featured also will be new motion pictures of the recent building development of Orange which has enabled the city to comfortably house the population which has swelled from less than 8000 in 1940 to more than 50,000 today.

Toby Kelly and his string band are well known radio and recording artists in this area, with several long time programs at Radio Stations in Beaumont, Port Arthur and Lake Charles, Louisiana to their credit.

Consolidated Steel Corporation, Ltd., has already delivered more than two hundred fighting ships to the Navy and has four times been awarded the Army-Navy "E" for the excellence of their production. They have recently announced the receipt of a new contract for many more destroyers which will carry the work well into 1946.

THE JOB IN THE PACIFIC IS STILL TERRIFIC!

THERE ARE STILL MILLIONS OF TOUGH, BRUTAL JAPS TO LICK.
EVERY JAP WE KILL MAKES
MY CHANCES OF GETTING HOME
BETTER, AND IT COSTS PLENTY TO KILL A JAP

IF YOU think Japan is a pushover—you're fooling yourself, mister. Every American soldier, marine and sailor in the Pacific knows he has a tough fight on his hands. You can't tell them their war is almost over! Even as you read these words, American men are dying in the fight against Japan.

Look into your heart and ask yourself honestly: "Have I stopped fighting? Have I stopped buying War Bonds because I think the war is about over?" You're not a quitter; your answer is "No!"

The fight in the Pacific calls for a highly specialized type of equipment, B-29 bombers that cost $600,000 in War Bonds; M-4 tanks with bulldozer blades that cost $67,417; "alligators" that cost $30,000; millions upon millions of gallons of gasoline. We need more and costlier equipment than any war has ever called for. And that's the big reason for the 6th War Loan Drive. Just as long as a single Japanese aims a gun at our men—we must continue to buy War Bonds.

Do your full share now!

Once again you are asked to buy at least one extra $100 War Bond. Buy more if you possibly can. Not only is it for the final Victory—it's for your future. Sign up for extra War Bonds on the Payroll Plan. Welcome the Victory Volunteer when he or she calls at your home. Remember—the job in the Pacific is still terrific.

Turkey Changes From Old To New in Two Decades

Turkey is still pictured by many Americans as the land of the sultans and caliphs, of the fez and the veiled harem, but it renounced all that beginning in 1923. In that year Turks elected their national leader, Kemal Ataturk, as first president of the Turkish republic. Under his vigorous, benevolent despotism, lasting until his death in November, 1938, they set about to banish traces of old Ottoman Empire days. They streamlined their living to western standards.

Change touched everybody, everything. Constantinople lost its Greek name, became Istanbul; lost the distinction of being the capital because of its frontier location. The capital was moved inland to once-sleepy Ankara (Angora), where a modern steel-and-concrete city of 155,000 has been developed. The dominant Moslem religion was divorced from state affairs, education was made compulsory for youth, women were emancipated. Western dress was adopted by both sexes and the fez was outlawed as a symbol of the unenlightened past. Legal codes were revised; the Gregorian calendar, metric system and a Latin alphabet were adopted.

Needed industries were developed in this agricultural nation, and located with military considerations prevailing over convenience to raw materials. A sizeable army was trained and military construction undertaken to bulwark national defense. Five-year plans measured the progress toward the many goals set, and their achievement added to the new spirit of national unity.

Limb Wounds Still the Greatest in War's Toll

Despite the increased ferocity of the present war, the number of war wounds to the arms and legs—major injury in battle—is no greater now than in any other war of America's history, it is indicated in reports by medical officers to Brig. Gen. Fred S. Rankin, U. S. army, chief consultant in surgery to Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, the surgeon general of the army.

Comparative figures indicate wounds of the extremities constituted 70.8 per cent of all combat injuries in the Civil war and 76.5 of all combat wounds in the World war. In the present war, 70 per cent of all battle wounds are wounds of the extremities.

Doctors thus know that if a man is going to be wounded in conflict the chance is seven out of ten that the wound will be in the arm or leg, just as it has always been. This percentage remains the same as in the past, despite the greatly increased use of land mines in the present war.

Land mines, because of their great explosive charge, are one of the most rightly feared of all military weapons in this war. There is no effort to minimize the dangers of land mine injuries in the report. Their detonations literally crush the leg or arm in some cases, and amputations may be the only answer.

Drinking Water

Typhoid fever and other water-borne diseases which at one time were so common have been practically eliminated by the scientific use of chlorine to disinfect water supplies. Although disinfection makes water safe, it usually does not remove tastes and odors, and, in fact, sometimes intensifies them. The public often judges the purity and safety of a food or water by its taste and smell, and if the palatability of a public water supply is bad, the public will drink less water and some people will use nearby springs and wells. Responsible officials recognize the importance of palatability in public water supplies and in recent years have effected a great improvement in this respect. The treatment adopted is to use active carbon, a product originally developed to protect soldiers against war gases. Active carbon is now used in over 1,200 public water supplies in this country.

Crossing Cotton

Tests with fields of green-leaf and red-leaf cotton indicate that the fields must be one mile or more apart to provide complete isolation. Natural crossing of different varieties of cotton has been found to take place at a considerable distance and through barriers of several rows of corn, according to cotton breeders in the U. S. department of agriculture. Fields of the two kinds of cotton were grown in four ways: side by side, with three rows of corn between, with six rows of corn between, and with nine rows of corn between. None of these barriers prevented natural crossing, and fields up to eight-tenths of a mile apart showed evidence of some crossing, it was reported.

Swiss Steak

Any cut of steak may be made into Swiss steak by dredging it with flour, browning it in fat to develop its flavor and then covering with a layer of sliced onion. In about three hours of low cooking, the steak will be tender and pleasingly delicious. Many variations can be developed from Swiss steak. It can be converted into a Spanish dish by adding green pepper or pimiento and tomatoes to the onion, or to a Creole steak by braising in a delicious sauce made of tomatoes, onions, peppers, bacon and spices.

A story that hasn't been told

AN AMERICAN WAR PRODUCTION RECORD THAT DESERVES TELLING . . .

On December 14, at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon, the men and women of Humble Oil & Refining Company will pause in their work to commemorate, in appropriate ceremony, a feat unparalleled in the petroleum industry: The production of ONE BILLION GALLONS of finished 100-octane aviation gasoline at the Baytown refinery.

This accomplishment merits special commendation, because it climaxes 25 years of development, planning, and teamwork of a great organization. The cooperative effort of Humble employees has brought about a uniform progress in all phases of the Company's operations which has enabled them to establish remarkable records in finding, producing, transporting and refining petroleum during a critical period in the history of our nation.

Humble research and development, in progress for many years before Pearl Harbor, made possible these accomplishments and contributed greatly to the total production of toluene, and the tremendous quantities of finished 100-octane aviation gasoline required by our Armed Forces.

Baytown Ordnance Works, first synthetic toluene plant in the world, has supplied toluene for at least one out of every two bombs used by the United Nations since Pearl Harbor. For this production feat, Baytown Ordnance Works has five times been awarded the Army-Navy "E".

Baytown Refinery has made one billion gallons of finished 100-octane aviation gasoline—more than has been produced by any other plant in the world. The world's first commercial alkylation plant was built at Baytown in 1938. The alkylation process is the very backbone of 100-octane aviation gasoline production by the entire petroleum industry.

Humble Oil & Refining Company is the nation's largest producer of crude oil, and is currently supplying about one-fourth of the increased production required for war, as measured by the gain since 1941.

Through the facilities of Humble Pipe Line Company, there is being transported more oil than is being carried by any other system in the country. Nearly 700,000 barrels move daily through Humble pipe lines—one-seventh of all the oil production in the United States.

United in a great singleness of purpose, 14,000 Humble men and women are devoting themselves to the task of providing vital petroleum products for war, looking to the day when their 3,000 fellow employees and all their comrades in arms will return.

OPEN HOUSE AT BAYTOWN REFINERY—DECEMBER 14-17

So that one of America's great war plants may be seen in action, Baytown Refinery is holding open house from Thursday, December 14, through Sunday, December 17. The story of the refinery at war will be told by dramatic exhibits of petroleum war products and a great Army and Navy show of war machines and materials. Specially conducted tours will take Humble's friends and neighbors into the heart of the refinery itself.

“.... Proof thro’ the night”

Among our millions of fighting men there will be one Milam County boy who will be wondering tonight. He'll be wondering how soon he can get his job done and come home.

He'll wonder whether the tools of war will continue to be ready for him in that final mile to Berlin and Tokyo. He knows superfortresses cost lots of money. . . $600,000 each, to be exact —and maybe he'll be wondering if we in Milam County will continue paying for them, and for the tanks and ships and guns and all the other things he needs. Yes, he'll be wondering if you are buying extra war bonds during the 6th War Bond Drive . . . to see that he and all the other boys get the essential supplies needed to do the job.

Maybe he wonders if we really want him back home as much as we say we do, . . . as much as he wants to be.

Let's set his mind at rest tonight, —let's give him convincing proof that we are doing our job as he is doing his. Let's invest in another $100 War Bond today.
